LOK SABHA

The following Bills were introduced in Lok Sabha on 3rd November, 1976:—

BILL No. 98 of 1976

A Bill to provide for the further extension of the duration of the present House of the People.

Be it enacted by Parliament in the Twenty-seventh Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

1. This Act may be called the House of the People (Extension of Duration) Amendment Act, 1976. Short title.

2. The duration of the present House of the People which was extended for a period of one year by the House of the People (Extension of Duration) Act, 1976, is hereby extended for a further period of one year and accordingly, in section 2 of that Act,— Further extension of duration of the present House of the People.

(1) in the opening paragraph, for the words "one year", the words "two years" shall be substituted;

(2) for the proviso, the following proviso shall be substituted, namely:—

"Provided that if both or either of the said Proclamations cease or ceases to operate before the expiration of the said period of two years, the present House of the People shall, unless previously dissolved under clause (2) of article 65 of the Constitution, continue until six months after the cesser of operation of the said Proclamations or Proclamation but not beyond the said period of two years."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The duration of the present House of the People which was extended for a period of one year by the House of the People (Extension of Duration) Act, 1976 (30 of 1976), is due to expire on the 18th March, 1977. Having regard to the continued operation of the two Proclamations of Emergency and the fact that the conditions which led to the extension of the duration of the present House of the People by one year also continue to prevail, it is felt that it will not be in the larger interests of the country to have general elections to the House before its present term expires. It is proposed that the duration of the present House of the People should be extended for a further period of one year. Under the proviso to clause (2) of article 83 of the Constitution, while a Proclamation of Emergency is in operation, Parliament has the power to extend by law the duration of the House of the People for a period not exceeding one year at a time and not extending in any case beyond a period of six months after the Proclamation has ceased to operate.

The Bill seeks to give effect to the above proposal.
